

For heat insulation of silencers, manifolds and pipes, Bersy researches into and produces many different types of insulation, which are composed of special fibres and insulating materials able to assure the highest level of protection from heat.

Many accessories such as compensators, connexion couplings and clamps are also available.

