

In recent years, BERSY has focused on the design and production of exhaust gas kits and accessories for marine applications.

BERSY designs and produces a wide range of items, including: insulated and cooled exhaust gas kits, risers, stainless steel silencers, insulation, compensators and flexible couplings.

In addition to the production of bespoke insulated exhaust manifolds made according to customer's specifications and design, BERSY also designs and manufactures customised systems to satisfy any application.

For this production, Bersy exclusively utilises the latest materials, assuring by this the utmost mechanical resistance and durability in time. Even the most demanding customers will not fail to be impressed by the top-quality finish and the highly refined and studied aesthetics of all Bersy's products. A team of skilled technicians specialised in this sector is available, who can resolve any problem concerning exhaust system.

